LISTING OF CLAIMS:

Claims 1-65 (cancelled).

Claims 66-95 (not entered).

96 (new). A gaming apparatus for playing a slot game, comprising:

a housing;

a display unit that is capable of generating video images and associated with the housing;

an input device associated with the housing; and a controller operatively coupled to said display unit and said input device, said controller comprising a processor and a memory operatively coupled to said processor, said controller being programmed to allow the user to make a wager, said controller being programmed to cause a first video image to be generated on said display unit, said first video image representing the slot game and including a first arrangement comprising a plurality of symbols, said controller being programmed to allow the user to select a first symbol from any of the plurality of symbols and a second symbol from any of the plurality of symbols using the value input device, said controller being programmed to allow a user to interchange the position of the first symbol with the position of the second symbol to define a second arrangement of the plurality of symbols, said controller being programmed to allow the user to select a third symbol from any of the plurality of symbols, to retrieve a fourth symbol from an exterior source, and to replace the third symbol with the fourth symbol to get a third arrangement of the plurality of symbols, and said controller being programmed to determine a value payout associated with an outcome of said slot game based on the second arrangement.

97 (new). The gaming apparatus of claim 96, wherein said first arrangement comprises a plurality of pay lines.

98 (new). The gaming apparatus of claim 97, wherein said controller is programmed to activate a first number of pay lines of the plurality of pay lines.

99 (new). The gaming apparatus of claim 98, wherein said controller is programmed to activate additional pay lines of the plurality of pay lines responsive to a wager placed.

100 (new). The gaming apparatus of claim 96, wherein said controller is programmed to allow the user to at least temporarily remove the first symbol from the first arrangement.

101 (new). The gaming apparatus of claim 100, wherein said controller is programmed to allow the user to move the second symbol into a position vacated by the first symbol.

102 (new). The gaming apparatus of claim 96, wherein said controller is programmed to cause visually perceptible movement of the first symbol and the second symbol within the first arrangement in response to the interchange of the position of the first symbol and the position of the second symbol.

103 (new). The gaming apparatus of claim 96, wherein the input device is a touch-sensitive input device disposed overlaying a portion of the display unit.

104 (new). The gaming apparatus of claim 96, wherein the controller is programmed to permit the interchange of the position of the first symbol and the position of the second symbol only during a limited period of time.

105 (new). The gaming apparatus of claim 96, wherein the controller is programmed to allow the user to interchange the position of the first symbol with the position of the second symbol responsive to at least one of the following events:

- generation of at least one preselected symbol for display;
- generation of at least one predetermined arrangement of symbols for display;
- placement of a wager in excess of a preselected threshold; and
- accumulation of a plurality of selected outcomes during prior plays of the game.

106 (new). The gaming apparatus of claim 96, wherein said controller is programmed to determine another value payout associated with an outcome of said slot game based on the third arrangement.

107 (new). The gaming apparatus of claim 96, wherein said controller is located remotely to the housing and is operatively connected to the display unit and the input device via a telecommunication network.

108 (new). The gaming apparatus of claim 107, wherein said telecommunication network is the Internet.

109 (new). The gaming apparatus of claim 96, wherein the exterior source is at least one of a central server and another gaming device.
